The Manamaler Store. Decorations and Attractions

THE Sculptors have given our Public large, artistic and pleasing private decorations for the Dewey Occasion. One of its smallest but most interesting features is found in the medallion portraits of the Admiral and his Captains.

The Decorators have graced the Jackies and Winged Victories with the National Flag.

Thousands come here each day to enjoy our contribution to the enthusiasm for the heroes of Manila Bay. This is the third day of the Fall Expositions of Imported Costumes, Wraps and Lingerie. It would appear from the audiences and comments of the past few days that further emphasis on the importance of this event was, at this time, superfluous. New York people have long since recognized the value of these displays. It is fortunate that the showing of this season comes at a time when so many of our out-of-town friends can enjoy it.

Worthy of Special Attention

A Picture Gallery on the Fifth Floor. Thirty-three ! splendid pictures from Paris Salons of this year have just been added.

A Model Apartment on the Fourth Floor. An example of good taste in furniture and fittings generally and their arrangement.

The Royal Salons and The Little Paris Store on the Second Floor. Showing of exquisite Imported Costumes and elegant lingerie.

The Rotunda, First Floor. A magnificent display of finest newsilks.

> Continental Bicycles, to close the season, $18. Attractive Chances in Flags and Bunting.

LESSONS IN THE ART OF LIVING.

Masters in the art of living love fine fur-

Masters in the art of living love fine furniture as master musicians love superb instruments. Rudyard kipling said, "Americans camp out; they have not had time to learn the lesson of living," but with our beautiful well attuned furniture, our customers find graceful living easy and prove Mr. Kipling's criticism behind the times.

Even those who know what we have done in the past find continual surprise and delight in our autumn productions. Such furniture is what is necessary to bring a home to its perfect condition. Our special novelty this Autumn is called "Art Noveau" in Europe—it is of light colored natural woods exquisitely inlaid.

Even these novelties are at factory prices, as you
